Livermore teachers poised for strike

LIVERMORE — A teachers' strike could be called any day, although there are no immediate plans for one.

Livermore Education Association members voted yesterday almost three to one to give their leaders authority to call a "work stoppage."

Some 333 teachers turned out for a meeting in the Presbyterian Church after school yesterday. By a 321 to 12 vote they rejected the Livermore Unified School District's Board's latest offer.

A second vote gave LEA's Executive Board authority to call a walkout "when and if it is determined necessary.

According to LEA President Barbara Brunke, most of LEA's 500 members were represented by proxy if not in person for the critical strike vote.

Striking "is not the direction we would like to go, but I am not afraid to do so when it is necessary," Brunke said after the vote was counted.

First, she said, LEA will probably try one more time to reach accord with the school board on a long list of unresolved items.

Salaries are already settled. Teachers have agreed to a 2.57 per cent raise.

However, both sides are still far apart on grievance procedures, case load size for specialists (counselors, nurses and librarians), and length of work day.

More school news, pg. 3

In addition, they disagree with the school board over whether such items as personnel file rules, school calendar, and academic freedom are negotiable items.

Teachers were well primed for their strike vote after listening for an hour to their leadership describe their differences with the district.

They were particularly inflamed after hearing that their negotiating team sat in the administration building for more than four hours Saturday waiting for the school board to emerge from executive session with an offer which never materialized.

Ben Ridlon of the California Teachers Association went over negotiation items point by point, explaining that agreement has been reached mainly on routine items.

He said teachers are being harassed by the school district's insistence on charging a $1.50 fee to deduct LEA membership dues from their pay checks.

He ridiculed the district's idea of forming a 10-person panel which would come to unanimous agreement on contested points.

A disgusted Joe Medeiros, head of LEA's negotiating team, said, "This is the fun of being on the school board — sticking it to the teachers."

Negotiator Sally Brown said, "Unless we have binding arbitration we are at their mercy. And I do not wish to be at the mercy of people who treated us in the manner in which we were treated on Saturday."

Teachers discussed the possibility of getting rid of some of the incumbent school board members, whom they blame for their problems and who are up for election in March.

They are currently interviewing each of the candidates and are inviting teachers to a candidates' afternoon Feb. 9 at Marylin Avenue School, and a candidates' night Feb. 16 at Junction School.

Tele-Vue healthy out here

DUBLIN — Solvency prevails in the Dublin - San Ramon areas as far as Tele-Vue Systems, Inc. is concerned while San Francisco continues to be a drain on Viacom International, according to Bill Lilly, regional manager for Tele-Vue's Diablo Region.

Tele-Vue Systems, Inc. is a subsidiary of Viacom International of New York City. They supply cable television.

Construction, operation and maintenance costs exclusive to San Francisco are some of the reasons that city's cable tv operates in the red.

A local law there makes it mandatory to lay cables underground. That is more expensive than providing aerial hookups from existing poles.

Dampness from fog causes operational and maintenance problems.

Another revenue problem is caused by the City's transient population. The population turns over at a rate of 40 per cent annually, according to M. Christopher Derick, vice president of Viacom in San Francisco.

"Naturally Viacom's goal is to make all operations stand on their own," said Lilly. "But it would take a large rate increase to make San Francisco solvent."

A rate increase is dependent on the number of subscribers per mile. The cost of doing business in an area is another basis used to set a rate.

Dublin's rates went from $5 to $5.75 two years ago.

"They could go up to $6.50 in some of the new tract developments where underground hookups prevail," said Lilly.

On Jan. 1, 1976 San Ramon's rates went from $6 to $6.50.

Rate increase projections are reviewed annually.

"At the present time, Tele-Vue has no formal proposal ready to file for a rate increase," said John Goddard, president of Tele-Vue Systems, Inc. "However, historically the company has tended to adjust rates every two to three years to compensate for inflationary factors."

The growth rate, which also reflects revenues, for Dublin, San Ramon, Livermore, Pleasanton and Sunol during 1976 went from 22,362 subscribers to 23,974.

Dublin went from 3436 to 3467 during the same period. San Ramon figures for 1976 went from 3496 to 3716.

The Tele-Vue Systems, Inc. building located at 6640 Sierra Court in Dublin is corporate headquarters for the west coast as well as the operating base for the Dublin Alameda County area.

"The purpose of our headquarters is to serve as staff support on a centralized basis for all west coast systems; not just for Dublin Alameda County," said Goddard.

'I had it in my power,' Cleaver tells them

"I could see my way back home. I saw a path of light that went through a prison cell. That prison cell was a dark spot in the path of light, but I had it in my power to go back home."

This was the symbolic description Eldridge Cleaver gave the capacity crowd at Dublin High School gymnasium at Sunday evening's Praise Gathering sponsored by the Valley Christian Center of his decision to come out of exile and return to the United States to face the charges against him.

Up to 3000 people sat spellbound as the former militant, communist, atheist, and leader of the Black Panther Party, turned Christian, described his early years in a Christian home his years as a juvenile delinquent, then how he turned to harder crime. At age eighteen Cleaver started calling himself a Marxist - Leninist, studying all Communist literature he could get his hands on.

"This went on for years and years. I was in and out of jail. (nothing to do with politics.)" Then at one point Cleaver joined the Black Panther Party to "give my whole existence to social struggle. Not the American Communist Party. They were completely out to lunch, a silly program." Being out on bail, on charges stemming from a shooting incident with the Oakland Police on April 6, 1968 Cleaver told the audience that if any members of the Oakland Polic were there, in the audience, "Hold on to your hat!"

After the shooting incident, Cleaver said he was taken to San Quentin Prison illegally. His attorney got him out temporarily, but the court decided he must return to San Quentin in 60 days.

"On the day I was supposed to surrender, I was in Montreal, Canada, checking it out, looking it over." He saw the television reports of his having skipped the country,.

"After the news went off, I got this strange new kind of feeling that came over me. I'm a fugitive now ... I'd arranged to go to Cuba."

His stay in Cuba lasted 8 months Cleaver left Cuba and went to Algeria where his wife met him, and their son and daughter were born. It was the pleasure of watching his two little children grow which caused him to be "overwhelmed with the sense that this was not an accident, too many balances involved, in too many cycles Marxism did not explain. No way all this could happen by chance. I could not longer say, There is no God ... The philsophy I carried was falling apart. I contrasted what was going on in America with what was going on in the rest of the world."

"I was in turmoil. My ideology no longer answered the questions that were posed. I

Mori Backs Las Positas Overpass

PLEASANTON — Assemblyman Floyd Mori has resubmitted his bill to get funding for the Las Positas overpass and it stands a good chance of getting out of committee this time, councilmember Ken Mercer told the city council last night.

Mori was quoted as saying that the committee which would give a "do pass" recommendation to the bill should be impressed with the city's commitment of $350,000 toward the project.

In the past the city insisted the state pay all the costs. However, after Mori's bill failed last spring, the council found some funds by pushing down other traffic priorities and hopes that its new participation will speed things along.

Councilmembers last night approved a letter to CalTrans officials urging funding for the environmental assessments and design of the project. City manager Bill Edgar said there is a remote chance that federal funds may become available for the project.

Edgar told CalTrans staff previously that there is "considerable community support" for the overcrossing based on a community poll taken last year. He also told CalTrans about opposition expressed "by citizens in the immediate vicinity of vicinity" and was told by CalTrans officials that's not unusual.

On another item, Joseph Madden agreed to ask the Alameda County Planning Commission to continue for at least one month his application for commercial rezoning of approximately three acres in an unincorporated area just outside the city limits on Stanley Boulevard.

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Warning sounded

The Alameda County Health Care Services Agency has issued a warning about rabid animals after a dead skunk, carrying the disease, was found dumped at the steps of Pleasanton Police Department last week.

Skunks, raccoons, foxes and bats are high-risk animals, according to the health department, in relation to rabies.

Most are nocturnal creatures, and should be treated with caution when seen in daylight hours, a department spokesman said.

If you spot an animal suspected of carrying rabies, call the local police department, Livermore, 443-0111, Pleasanton, 846-3202, or in an unincorporated area, the County Animal Field Control Service, 846-4457 during the day, and 577-1333 at night.

Dow hearing set

Lesher News Bureau

A state Senate committee has scheduled a hearing Wednesday on the decision by the Dow Chemical Co. to drop plans for a $500 million petrochemical complex.

The Committee on the State's Economy will meet at 9:30 a.m. in Room 2040 of the State Capitol, Sacramento, to discuss Dow's reasons for abondoning plans for the facility, planned for sites near Pittsburg and Collinsville.

Dow officials cited costly delays in applying for 65 permits from regulatory agencies. The firm announced its decision last week, after securing only four of the 65 permits during two years of planning.

The committee has asked for testimony from Dow, the Governor's Office, and various state agencies.

The 12-page report will be presented to board members Wednesday by Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services for Amador and Pleasanton.

Two youths arrested after stealing truck

PLEASANTON — Police arrested a 14-year-old Pleasanton youth and his 13-year-old Castro Valley accomplice Sunday night after they had observed the juveniles strip a stolen truck.

A citizen phoned police to report he watched the youths taking parts off the truck across the street from his home about 9:50 Sunday night.

Officers posted a stakeout and watched as the two suspects kicked open a wooden toolbox mounted in the pick-up bed of the stolen truck and threw tools into a nearby creekbed. Police then moved in and made the arrests.

One youth admitted he was on his paper route earlier when he entered the car and found the keys lying on the floorboard. He reportedly told officers he and his companion drove the car around for a short time. They allegedly parked the truck, took a quantity of nickels from the glove compartment and pulled off the vehicles's license plates.

Two youths injured in Granada High fight

LIVERMORE — A fight between two groups of youths at Granada High School Friday night left two youths injured, police report.

Officers said a 16-year-old El Caminito youth sustained a 3-inch cut below his left eye as a result of the fight. Another 16-year-old was reportedly treated for minor injuries and released from Valley Memorial Hospital.

According to reports, a group of students was walking northbound on Wagoner Drive about 9:15 Friday night when other youths offered to fight. A beer can was thrown, and the youths tangled. One youth was knocked to the ground and kicked in the face, police said.

Two juveniles, aged 16 and 17, were arrested and booked on suspicion of battery.

Two men with knife threaten citizen

LIVERMORE — A man getting into his car to leave the Valley Inn early Sunday was threatened by two men brandishing a knife, police report.

Arlington Olmstead told police he was getting into his car to leave at a minute after midnight when he noticed two men prowling around adjacent vehicles.

One man approached with a 3-inch knife and ordered Olmstead to get out of his car. Instead, he kicked the attacker in the chest, pushing him back.

The second suspect approached and said they would let Olsmstead go if he would not call police. The victim agreed, drove to a phone booth and called police.

Police said the two suspects had been in the Valley Inn earlier that evening, at which time they spilled a beer near the hostess station. There are no suspects at this time.

Save farmland bills announced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation aimed at preserving 28 million acres of California agricultural land from development was announced today by two Democratic legislators.

Under the bills, which are to be introduced in both the Senate and the Assembly, affected cities and counties would have to adopt a plan by April 1, 1979, identifying farmland that should be protected.

Assemblyman Dan Boatwright, D-Concord, and Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno, told a news conference that the bills would mandate local government to act, with plans submitted to a five - member, state - level board.

A rival measure, by Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, was introduced last week. It is aimed at protecting the 12 million acres of prime farmland from development, and gives the state more authority over local governments than the Boatwright - Zenovich bills.

Cities and counties with at least 1,600 acres of farmland would be affected by the Boatwright - Zenovich measures, which are backed by the California Chamber of Commerce, county supervisors association, the California Farm Bureau Federation and building trades.

Boatwright said his measure would encompass nonprime farmland and grazing land as well as the best cropland because all are "diminishing assets."

The two lawmakers said California, which produces 25 per cent of the nation's table food, is losing 120,000 acres of farmland annually to urban sprawl.

A formula of productivity would be worked out in determining which lands should be protected, Zenovich said. "If its not producing up to par, then apply to take it out" of preservation, he said.

They said a big difference between the competing proposals is that their bills do not "create another super agency" at the state level. It allows for more flexibility for counties in different situations, they said.

The Boatwright - Zenovich bills, somewhat similar to a bill introduced last session by Zenovich, would allow land downzoned to be included in the Williamson Act, which reduces property taxes.

The state would then reimburse local governments for lost revenue, but Boatwright said he would not guess how much it would cost.

Warren's bill was killed in the Senate Finance Committee last summer. Zenovich's old bill died in Warren's Resources, Land Use and Energy Committee.

Housing post— who cares?

PLEASANTON — Housing Authority commissioners were advised to ask friends if they want to apply for the seat to be vacated by Commissioner William Thompson Wednesday night.

The city has had only one applicant for Thompson's seat — Baptist minister Bill Pemberton — and it looks like Pemberton may not be able to make it to the commission's regular Wednesday night meetings.

Of course, there is nothing holy about Wednesday night commission meetings, said Thompson, and the board could change its meeting date. But commissioners were disappointed that a PHA board seat attracted only one applicant, while seats on other city commissions have many applicants jostling for them.

$1.7 million in aid

Drought help sought

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The federal government will be asked to provide $1.7 million in emergency drought assistance to the county. The aid requested differs radically from last year's assistance.

Board of supervisors chairman Charles Santana late last week asked Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., to declare the county a disaster area and seek a similar designation from President Carter.

Low interest loans made available last year "were of no benefit to ranchers and farmers" in the county, declared assistant director of emergency services John D. Moore in his letter to the board of supervisors.

This year Moore wants the county to benefit from the newly enacted Farm to Marketing Act and a Presential order. The order directs the Federal Disaster Assistance Agency to establish an emergency livestock feeding program for drought areas in states of emergency.

If approved, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will work with the FDAA to provide up to 80 per cent of the cost of transportation of feed and grain, and up to $24 per round trip to ship livestock.

The program also covers up to 50 per cent of the cost of feed.

The county's agricultural commission estimates all 12,500 cattle and sheep in the county need assistance. Some 51,000 tons of feed have been lost since June, 1976, and the livestock are labeled "poor - fair."

Some 225,000 acres of crop, including hay, grain, vegetables, grapes and rangelands, are affected.

Involved people stem burglary

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — Burglaries have decreased in the unincorporated county area because of greater citizen involvement and a new policy for assigning investigators, a sheriff's report states.

Burglaries dropped more than five per cent in 1976, according to Lt. Howard Van Orden.

Under the new policy burglaries are given an "A" or "B" designation, the latter being those without any apparent leads.

They are assigned to burglary prevention officers who contact the victim about a home security program and quiz the victim carefully hoping to jog loose some information previously overlooked.

A worksheet is completed and returned to an investigator who has been working on more promising cases in the interim. As new leads are developed, they are fed to him.

Van Orden credited citizens who are willing to get involved and cooperate with reducing burglaries in 1976.

Teen reports rape

LIVERMORE — A 16 - year - old Livermore girl was reportedly raped Friday night on Mines Road, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Deputies said the girl and a female companion accepted a ride from four men in a blue Camaro on First Street Friday. They traveled up Mines Road where the attack later occurred.

The girl apparently suffered no severe physical injuries, deputies said. She was stranded on Mines Road after the attack because her friend had run to get help.

Police are searching for a 1975-77 blue Camaro. There are no suspects at this time.

Sunol kids' big chance

A Sunol youngster may become the designer of a Christmas Seal.

Local judges have selected two children's paintings from Alameda County to be sent to the California Lung Association for final selection from designs submitted from all areas of the state. One painting will become a California Christmas Seal on the 1978 sheet of 54 seals with artwork from each U.S. state and territory.

Kindergartener Jim Lipman and first grader Aaron Hall, both of Sunol Glen School, painted the posters selected to represent Alameda County.

The youngsters painted their posters last month to capture a child's impression of the holiday season. Sunol students from grades kindergarten through third were asked to contribute.

The project is sponsored by the American Lung Association and the National Art Education Association, with the blessing of State School Superintendent, Wilson Riles, and the California Art Education Association.

Sunol student Jim Lipman explains his poster to William Moore of the Lung Association. Aaron Hall gazes at classmate's work.

Campaigner named

Charles W. Lowell, president of Diablo State Bank, will head the Parents Committee to Elect Gregory McCoy to the school board of the San Ramon Valley Unified School District.

Lowell said his decision to head up the group was based mainly on McCoy's enthusiasm for the job and the hope that McCoy will hold spending to realistic levels.

McCoy is an attorney with the Danville firm of Merrill, Thiessen, and Gagen, is currently vice chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on School Finance for the San Ramon school district.

Other members of the Parents' Committee to Elect Gregory McCoy to the school board include Virginia Deaton, campaign coordinator; John May, issues coordinator; Lynn Shoenut Yaney, publicity coordinator; Dori Davi, coffees coordinator; Randy Grabeel, sign coordinator, and Brian Thiessen, treasurer.

Anyone wishing to join the parents' committee may call Virginia Deaton at 837-5020.

WHY DOES THE LIVERMORE SCHOOL BOARD WANT TEACHERS TO GO OUT ON STRIKE ?

The district would save over $10,000.00 a day using substitutes instead of the regular teachers. When the teacher leaves the classroom, how much learning occurs? How much is just "Babysitting"?

WHO BENEFITS?

NOT STUDENTS . . . NOT TEACHERS . . . NOT THE COMMUNITY

IT IS A KNOWN FACT THAT:

- Livermore Administrators have contacted other districts to supply lists of substitutes.
- The state of California issues "Emergency" certificates to individuals otherwise not qualified to teach.
- School Board President, Manuel Prado stated publicly that "No contract is the best contract."

TEACHERS DESERVE A FAIR CONTRACT NOW!

Teachers want to teach, not argue with the board. Contact board members, tell them you want this settled now.

What you see, isn't there

Sports artist dazzles with suggested space

DUBLIN — First you see it, then you don't, when you take a close look at one of Ron Leone's drawings that utilizes his original "suggested space" concept.

"My theory evolved through a combination of accident and experimentation," said Leone, an art teacher at California High School.

"I started by leaving out a part of a drawing. I thought the effect that happened was exciting. It eventually became more of a scientific system by leaving out pertinent areas to create a design."

Leone said although you cannot see anything in the blank spaces, you are given the sensation something is there.

"That's because of the forms adjacent to it," he said. "By leaving blank spaces, this causes adjacent forms to be accentuated revealing the beauty of newly formed shapes. Furthermore, not only new shapes are created but many shapes which would have gone unnoticed are now brought out."

Primarily, he draws sports figures. He has a large photo file from which to choose his subjects.

"I'm working on an Oakland Raider series now," he said. "All of the sports people have been very receptive to this idea."

He has a private autographed collection which is not for sale, he said. It includes his drawing of Joe Namath.

"To my knowledge the only artist who comes close to using this concept is an artist named Rosemond. That person's work is similar but not exactly the same," Leone said. "There's quite a bit of difference."

After making a thumbnail sketch, Leone said he spends an average of 14 hours on the final picture. The medium he uses is a color pencil with a wax base called Prismacolor.

Leone said he originally thought of only leaving out white areas. Later, he decided to try leaving out different colors.

"That gave me more freedom," he said. "But the method I used depended on what was right for the individual picture."

Some of Leone's work is displayed at the Dublin Public Library. — by Sue Vogelsanger

Komandorski may accept students

PLEASANTON — Housing authority commissioners said they will have to think for awhile about whether to allow college students between 18 and 21 to rent units at Komandorski Village.

Executive Director Michael Parsons suggested that families continue to be given the top priority, right behind veterans, for units at Komandorski. But sometimes there are so many vacancies that the housing authority could assure a better cash flow and cut the vacancy factor by renting out one and two bedroom units to full-time college students, said Parsons.

Commissioner Ed Alves said that groups of students may want to share units bigger than one or two bedrooms, but Parsons was adamant about keeping it one student per apartment. PHA has a policy on cohabitation, inserted apparently as a policing device for the welfare department.

If a welfare mother who is a head of household is living with a man, she is ineligible for welfare. Letting students "cohabit" an apartment would violate that rule, said Parsons.

Alves didn't think the PHA should get into personal morality of whoever chooses to share an apartment, but he didn't persist in making an issue of it.

It's all sewn up

PLEASANTON— "It's All Sewn Up" was the theme of a fashion show featuring 22 models and a representative of the Simplicity Pattern Company Monday at Donlon School.

Joan Nesbitt of the Donlon faculty coordinated the show.

IF I HAD MY LIFE TO LIVE OVER

These are the results of a survey of women who replied to the question, "If you had your life to live over, how would you change it?"

A 22 year old responded that she probably would have studied alot more in school, and she would have practiced the piano more as a child, and taken it alot more seriously than she did. Then she would have gone on to music school.

Another 22 year old woman replied that there were lots of little things she would change but the main thing would be "I wouldn't have eaten so much all my life. Then I wouldn't have gotten into the habit of eating alot. And I wouldn't have the problem I have now. I also would have exercised a whole lot more, would have done the same exercises as the boys, push-ups and running around the field. Oh, there's lots of things I would have lived differently."

A 26 year old said that she would have done her arithmetic homework back in the fourth grade. Later on, she might have gone to a different college, a big university instead of a small college. She added that having been so good she regrets not having anything to regret.

The answers of a 31 year old were as follows: "I would have gone to college in California and settled here right after college ... because this is my kind of place. I've found what I was looking for in California ... I feel that California has alot of self - growth things that are for me. I would have put myself into U.C. Berkeley and gotten into the kind of lifestyle at U.C. Berkeley sooner. I don't regret the wild things I've done ... I do ... I revel in them."

The reply of a 43 year old woman: "I would dream bigger dreams for myself. I would set better, more solid goals, and do everything in my power to achieve them. I would like myself better, be kinder to myself, and appreciate myself more. I would learn to enjoy and relax.

"I would demand more from others instead of being so self - sacrificing, playing a passive role, and accepting crumbs. I would be more organized, more disciplined in achieving my goals. I would not be over - protective of those around me. I would compete, and allow myself to win.

"I wouldn't play dumb so people would like me. I wouldn't associate with people I can't stand. Life is definitely too short. I would see things more realistically, and myself and my assets, more positively. Then I would do my utmost to express my true feelings, to make them known, to define myself to myself, and to others."

Eighty - five - year - old Nadine Stair of Louisville, Ky., expressed it this way. "I'd like to make more mistakes next time. I'd relax. I would limber up. I would be sillier than I have been this trip. I would take fewer things seriously. I would take more chances. I would take more trips. I would climb more mountains and swim more rivers. I would eat more ice cream and less beans. I would perhaps have more actual troubles, but I'd have fewer imaginary ones.

"You see, I'm one of those people who live sensibly and sanely hour after hour, day after day. Oh, I've had my moments, and if I had it to do over again, I'd have more of them. In fact, I'd try to have nothing else. Just moments, one after another, instead of living so many years ahead of each day. I've been one of those people who never goes anywhere without a thermometer, a hot water bottle, a raincoat and a parachute. If I had it to do over again, I would travel lighter than I have.

"If I had my life to live over, I would start barefoot earlier in the spring, and stay that way later in the fall. I would go to more dances. I would ride more merry - go - rounds. I would pick more daisies."

BORN LOSER

The game of Drop Stick was played with skill by Native American tribes of the Pacific Northwest. The YMCA will let you try your hand at dropping sticks through a ring for prizes at the upcoming Monte Carlo Nite benefit in Pleasanton.

Native American games challenge dexterity and teach you history

By JEAN McKENNA

That fascination with the life of the earliest Americans, the "Indian mystique," persists among adults as well as children. Today there is a great interest in painting a more accurate picture of the Native American peoples.

The children of these tribes invented a great variety of games, which reflect the lifestyle of their people, using simple objects from nature — twigs, seeds, evergreen cones, gourds, pebbles, shells, rawhide, feathers. The games dramatized or imitated adult social customs, ceremonies, hunting or combat. Most encouraged thought, trained observatory powers, cultivated patience and a sense of humor, quickened the hands and feet, and developed dexterity, strength, endurance and skill.

You will have an opportunity to test your mettle on four of the less dangerous Native American games at a booth sponsored by Twin Valley YMCA for Monte Carlo Nite Feb. 5 at the fairgrounds' Exhibition Hall in Pleasanton. (Just one of about 30 booths at the benefit sponsored by the Pleasanton Juniors.)

Try the game of skill called Drop Stick which was played by the tribes of the Pacific Northwest. Simply drop a handful of long, straight sticks through a small ring suspended by an upright stick thrust into the ground. Sounds easy? There was a more difficult version of the game for expert players — it was played blindfolded.

If a player became too adept in this version also, he was whirled around a few times while blindfolded. While the amused onlookers kept perfectly quiet, he then tried to drop the sticks through the ring and quite often succeeded!

Ball Drop is a similar game using balls and a bowl instead of sticks. All in Air is an adaptation of an arrow - shooting game played by the Plains Indians, and Ring in a Ring was played by the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest. All will be featured by the YMCA which will offer prizes for skillful players.

The YMCA has for many years adapted Native American games for use in its programs for children of all ages. A very popular and successful program which encourages fathers to get involved is that for Y-Indian Guides (boys) and Y-Indian Princesses (girls). Organization of the program is based on Indian lore, and history of the earliest Americans is taught through activities.

The year-round program is for children in grades K through 3, with weekly tribe meetings and monthly outings. Older boys and girls may join Trail Blazers and Pathfinders with their dads.

A brand new program called Y-Pals, which will enable fatherless boys to join in the fun is just waiting for funding, according to YMCA's Stan Cowen. A pilot program tested last spring with a few boys was well - received, but the "Y" wants to be able to provide scholarships to boys from families which cannot afford the cost of activities.

Because the "Y" will not attempt to offer anything but a quality program, properly staffed, Y-Pals must wait until more money is obtained, says Cowen. "Y" Director Dick Babington is also hoping to find the money for a van to provide transportation for boys without fathers.

That's where the Monte Carlo Nite benefit will help.

SOLD. . . to the highest bidder

A bidder claims his prize.

Photos by Neil Heilpern

Attention focused on a set of sliding doors.

LIVERMORE — The bidders were seated on long benches, surrounded in the cavernous room with all sorts of used furniture, bric - a - brac, and appliances.

Many held their special numbered "paddles" to identify themselves to the auctioneer and his clerk. Others, known to the auction officials from previous auction - circuit stops, merely had to tug their ears, nod their heads, wink their eyes or point a finger for recognition.

It was the beginning of an era in Livermore — the first of a series of auctions at the Valley Furniture Auction in the Rincon Shopping Center.

Almost 200 people showed up for the first auction, walking away with bargains like a large living room rug for $15 or an antique clock for $45. Youngsters were there to bid on bicycles and boxes of toys.

The freezers, folding couch - beds and television sets went like hotcakes.

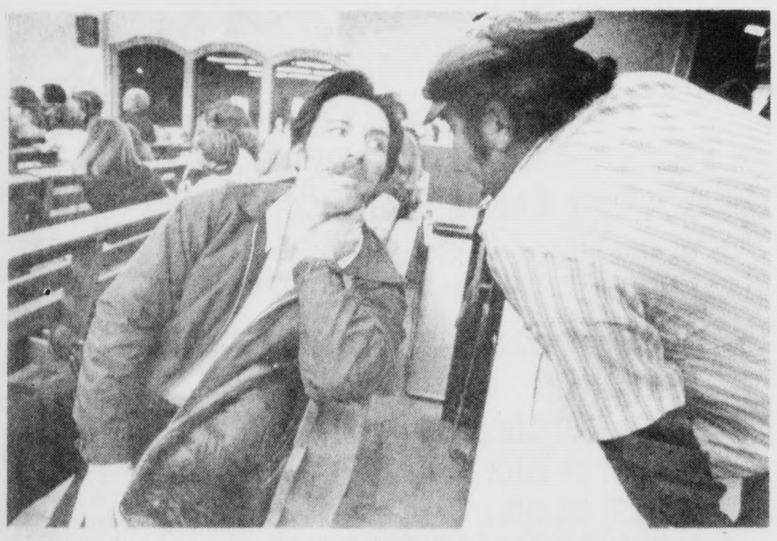
The auction is the business of Tom Lewis, a man who was raised on the auction circuit since age 10. Now, at 46, he has moved his auction from Castro Valley to the Livermore Valley.

His wife Gladys helps keep track of the goods and collects the money from the bidders.

Tom will be hosting the auctions every other Thursday, the next one being held 7:30 p.m. this Thursday.

Count me in!

Some found treasures in boxes.



"Should we bid on that item," was a question many partners asked.

Not all eyes were rivetted to the front.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — People and even doctors have different opinions about high blood pressure. I heard on Hollywood Squares that low blood pressure is better than normal blood pressure. I don't believe that. What could be better than normal? I heard we can have as much as 100 plus your age. I am 69 and I think 169 would be too high. I read in a German book in 1955 that for people 60 or over, 140 over 100 is normal. What is your opinion, Dr. Larry? What should my blood pressure be? Here in Montana it is 160 over 80 but in the winter in Arizona it is 135 over 80 or 90.

DEAR READER — Yes, there are a lot of different statements about normal blood pressure. The confusion begins with the meaning of the word normal. It is often used in a statistical sense to mean "most common." However, something that is "most common" may not be optimal or even desirable. It is "most common" to have heart disease in our society but most people would prefer not to be normal in that regard. They would rather be optimal in terms of health and not have a heart attack or a stroke.

In general it is said that any pressure below 140 over 90 is normal. However, we know from population studies that even lower blood pressure is associated with a lower incidence of fatty-cholesterol deposits in arteries and hence a lower rate of heart attacks, strokes and other complications of artery disease. Individuals with blood pressure of 100 over 60 are less prone to heart disease or strokes. Yet these low pressures are not "most common." I should mention that we do accept pressures of 90 over 60 as still within the normal range.

I agree that elevated pressure should be treated in the interest of preventing strokes and heart attacks. However, I do not believe in being heroic about it unless the pressure is truly significantly beyond the normal range of 140 over 90. With modest elevations I am convinced that the best form of treatment in most cases is weight reduction. Even if a person has only a few pounds of excess fat around the waist these pounds can make the difference.

Beyond adequate weight control — that means getting rid of ALL the fat — the next step is the use of water pills, those that eliminate excess salt. And, of course, the person should limit salt intake.

More stringent measures that require powerful medicines should not be used until weight control, diet, salt restriction and water pills have been used to the fullest.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-8 Blood Pressure to give you a general understanding of blood pressure. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New YOrk, NY 10019. Your blood pressure is fine for your age but if you want it to be a little lower I would eliminate any detectable body fat you might have with diet and exercise.

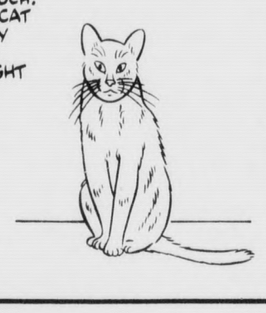
Some of the more powerful medicines used to treat blood pressure have powerful side effects, including causing depression, drowsiness, loss of sexual capacity and other changes. The best way to avoid these risks is to do first things first. That means getting rid of your excess fat before the doctor starts you on such medicines. Frankly I think too much reliance is put on these strong medicines rather than correcting living habits that cause the high blood pressure in the first place.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHY DO CATS HAVE WHISKERS?"

MICHELLE McCOY
CONCORD, CA

A. THE CAT'S LONG WHISKERS ARE SENSITIVE TO TOUCH. THEY HELP THE CAT TO FEEL ITS WAY AROUND WHILE HUNTING AT NIGHT



The long, stiff hairs that grow from the sides of a cat's face are often called whiskers.

The whiskers are attached to special nerves in the skin, and are especially sensitive to touch. The whiskers help the cat to feel its way through bushes and warn it of other objects in its path as it silently prowls about at night in search of mice and other prey.

The cat has developed other sharp senses to help it hunt at night. The cat's amazing eyes can see much better than we can in dim light.

Its keen sense of smell tells it when food or an enemy is near, and its sharp ears can hear sounds too faint for listening humans to catch.

People have often thought that a cat's whiskers are its measuring stick, too. If its whiskers fit in an opening, the rest of it can. But the cat does not really use its whiskers to measure a space through which it can walk.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't borrow anything from friends today unless it's absolutely necessary to your well-being. Harsh feelings could otherwise result.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In your one-to-one dealings today, try to keep your wits about you. You could become involved with one who is unreasonably hostile.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't attempt to lord it over people today. It's far better to play up to them a little. You'll create much ill will by being too bossy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone you're very close to may be extremely extravagant today. Their profligacy could hurt you, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is one of those days when you and your mate are not going to be on the same wavelength. Back-off if you see the storm signals flying.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be very careful today even in routine chores. Your aspects are such that danger lurks where you'd least expect it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could place too much emphasis today on having a good time and throw your finances out of kilter. Paying the piper later may be difficult.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You feel time's hot breath on your neck today, but don't panic. Attempts to move too quickly in complex situations do more harm than good.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The highway won't be a happy way for you today unless you drive defensively. Be cautious even on short trips.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Resist any pressure today by one who covets something that you have. If you give in, you'll later regret your action.

Your Birthday

Jan. 25, 1977

This coming year you'll be more ambitious and enterprising than usual. Your chances for success are good if you channel your energies wisely.

Paul Soloway elected to treat his fifth diamond as a 16th point and opened one notrump. Bobby Goldman wasted no time taking him to game and West opened the queen of clubs.

Paul won with the king and led back the nine whereupon West made the unusual play of ducking completely. Had he played high, Paul would have ducked in dummy and been sure of four club tricks. As it was, Paul held the trick with his nine and noted that East had a real problem discarding the deuce of spades.

Now Paul led a spade to dummy's queen, returned the jack of diamonds and watched it lose to West's king.

West led back the jack of hearts. Paul played low from dummy, East played the trey and Paul was in with the king.

He had four tricks in, dummy's ace of clubs was the fifth and he needed four diamonds to bring home his contract.

It appeared to Paul that East had been dealt a 4-4-4-1 distribution. Hence the odds favored finding him with the guarded 10 of diamonds.

He entered dummy with the ace of clubs, led the diamond, finessed his nine and made three notrump to win the board for his team.

Ask the Jacobys

A Colorado reader wants to know why we occasionally print hands from the early days of contract in this column.

The answer is that we try to interest all sorts of readers and quite a few have asked us to show what happened in the early days of contract.

Poke grapplers pin Foothill, stay unbeaten

Eric Jellinghausen's sudden reversal and subsequent pin on Steve Tonelli five seconds from the end of their 167 - pound match iced a 52-15 East Bay Athletic League wrestling win for the Cowboys last night over Foothill last night in Pleasanton.

Tonelli had surprised his third-year varsity foe with a takedown at the start of the first period and a reversal at the outset of the second.

But Jellinghausen capitalized on a slight opening to win the match moments later.

In one of two other league matches held last night, Dublin rolled over Monte Vista 50-8. Tonight at 6 p.m. California hosts superpower Granada as the league - leading Mats look for their fourth consecutive win.

Things didn't start well for the Falcons as Mike Rowan was injured in the second round and had to give up his 97-pound match with Rob Baird.

While Kevin Rowan followed with a 34-second pin of Dave Powles that knotted the score briefly, Foothill never made it all the way back.

Beginning with the 114-pound match, the Cowboys rang up 17 straight points.

First, Kirk Allman, shutting out Falcon Steve Fabian all the way, recorded a pin at 41 seconds of the third round.

Then 122-pounder Joe Paulo overwhelmed Mike Bumalang for a 21-9 superior decision.

By the time Livermore's Russ Dugood was through pinning Mike Reisberg at 38 seconds of the third fall, it seemed only a matter of time untill the 'Poke triumph became official.

Jellinghausen, the decider, came right in the middle of a clump of Cowboy pins, including six-point victories by Dale Hansen and James Sanpon.

The Cowboys other winners were Todd Berg (140) and heavyweight Gary Tennyson.

Foothill, meanwhile, won three matches other than the pin by Rowan. Rich Moran won the 135-pound match, 7-1, George Agard the 147-pounder, 6-4, and Mike Colvin the 193-pound tussle, 5-4.

Dublin, by virtue of a surprisingly easy win, moved to 2-2 in league wrestling. The potent Gaels won 12 of 13 matches, including pins by Steve Brite in the 156-pound match and Dennis Cole (129).

Cole, who held a 5-0 lead at the end of the second round, defeated MV's Jeff Howe at the 1:32 mark of the third round. Brite, on the other hand, pinned the Mustangs' Clark Brimhall, with 1:39 showing in the second round.

Brimhall held a 7-1 lead prior to the pin. Dublin's Joel Kallman, who continues to wrestle with excellence at 114, had an easy time with Monte Vista's Randy Fredericksen, pining the youthful Mustang, 11-2.

McKeon Finley's new A's skipper

OAKLAND — Charles O. Finley and Jack McKeon, who face the serious job of rebuilding the Oakland A's, shared some laughs Monday.

"We just ran into a good looking young man in the hotel lobby. Charlie stopped him and asked if he could play shortstop," said McKeon, the A's new manager, at a news conference.

McKeon was hired by Finley in November to succeed Chuck Tanner, the manager traded to the Pittsburgh Pirates for $100,000 and catcher Manny Sanguillen in a unique baseball deal.

"I hope I do a good enough job managing that maybe Charlie can trade me for $200,000 and a couple of ballplayers," McKeon said.

Finley said he is confident he'll win his $3.5 million suit against Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who disallowed the June sales of A's stars Vida Blue, Rollie Fingers and Joe Rudi. A decision, by a federal judge in Chicago, should come in March.

"I can't make any trades right at this moment because I'm waiting for the judge's decision," said Finley, adding that he fully expects to win "and I'm not fearful of an appeal. For one thing, the other owners realize now I was right, and the decision will help them, even though they'll have to pay through the nose."

After getting his anticipated $3.5 million, Finley added, he'll take his first big steps toward rebuilding the American League team which won three consecutive World Series with such stars as Rudi, Fingers, Catfish Hunter, Reggie Jackson, Ken Holtzman, Bert Campaneris, Sal Bando and Gene Tenace — all playing elsewhere now.

"I'll tell you one thing. I've got a hell of a lot more to start with now than I did 17 years ago," said the man who became owner of the A's in Kansas City in 1960.

Finley has changed managers 13 times, and the owner mispronounced McKeon's name throughout Monday's news conference.

McKeon, who didn't seem to mind, was asked what his starting lineup would be if he had to fill one out now. He had to leave blanks at the shortstop and left field spots vacated by Campaneris and Rudi.

But he said, after being introduced by Finley, "I'm glad to have the opportunity to be in the major leagues again."

Finley said, "I'm happy you agreed to take the job."

15th place better than nothing at all

PLEASANT HILL — Amador Valley High's basketball team and the East Bay Athletic League have finally broken the solid if not unbreakable East Bay Prepwriter's Basketball poll released this morning.

The Dons were rated 15th to mark the first time since the pre-season poll was distributed that an East Bay Athletic League team has earned a spot on the Top 15. Granada was rated 14th in the pre-season poll.

After a disastrous 1-6 start, the Dons came back to win nine of their next ten games to pull up with a 10-7 record.

The Dons return to action tomorrow evening against Foothill after a whopping 71-29 win over San Ramon. Currently in first place with an unblemished 5-0 mark, the Dons held San Ramon to six points at halftime and held a 506 lead at one point in the third quarter.

San Ramon coach Russ Critchfield, after witnessing the Dons being bombarded by St. Joseph's 79-55 in the pre-season, didn't expect the defensive turnaround when they met last Friday night. Said Critchfield, "If I would have known they were 50 points better than us, I would have come out before the game and taken the air out of the ball. A coach just doesn't know."

The Wolves will decided their playoff fortunes tomorrow evening when the face Monte Vista in a showdown in Danville. Both squads are 3-2 and fighting for one of the top four playoff spots.

Livermore seems completely turned around from their opening season troubles and heads into tomorrow's game with California with one of the better balanced lineups in the league in Mark McCreary Tim Jenkins and John Farfan scoring with frequency. The three combined for 62 points in Livermore's 88-68 win over Foothill.

Granada, 4-1, hosts winless Dublin tonight as they try and keep pace with leader Amador. The Mats played intensively during Friday's 80-62 win over Cal, while the Gaels dropped their second game in a row to Monte Vista, having already lost to them in the Del Oro Tourney last December. They are currently locked with California in last place.

Livermore, Monte Vista and San Ramon are all 3-2, while Foothill is struggling to stay with the pack at 2-3.

Friday's premiere game will pit Amador at Livermore in their classic age-old battle, while San Ramon hosts Granada, Monte Vista is at Foothill and Dublin meets California.

Stabler receives Hickok award

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Ken Stabler, the quarterback of the Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders, was named the 1976 Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Monday after the most wide-open race in the 27-year history of the award.

Stabler, the first Hickok winner who failed to win any of the 12 monthly competitions, received 31 first - place votes and 135 points in nationwide balloting by sports writers and sportscasters. It gave him a seven - point margin over Joe Morgan, the second baseman of the world champion Cincinnati Reds. Morgan received 28 first - place votes and 128 points. Morgan also failed to win a monthly competion.

The 32 - year - old Stabler, a left - handed passer, led the Raiders to a 13-1 regular - season record as the top passer in the National Football League. He completed 194 passes in 291 attempts for a 66.7 percentage, 2,737 yards and 27 touchdowns.

He then guided Oakland to playoff victories over New Engand and Pittsburgh to set up the Raiders' 32-14 romp over Minnesota Jan. 9 in the Super Bowl.

Like Stabler and Morgan, tennis star Chris Evert also missed out on a monthly selection. But she became the highest - placed woman in the Hickok history, receiving 24 first - place votes and 108½ points while golfer Judy Rankin got one first - place vote worth five points.

The only other two women ever to get Hickok votes were the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias, a golfer, who got a first - place vote and 12 points in 1950, and tennis player Billie Jean King, who got one point in 1974.

There have been two closer 1-2 finishes in Hickok voting. Quarterback Joe Namath beat pitcher Denny McLain by four points in 1968 and shortstop Phil Rizzuto edged golfer Ben Hogan by six in 1950.

Mayn leads Nationals to Silver State title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Kevin Mayn scored two goals to wrap up a four-game goal scoring streak and lead the Ballistic Nationals to the championship of their division at the Silver State Soccer Tournament here over the weekend.

Jeff Hales had a goal and an assist for the winners' in the final contest while Peter Leaf assisted on Hales' goal in the 3-1 win over the Concord Athletic League Wolverines.

Mike Lemm, Brandon Baxter, Ronnie Lambert and Jason Molz ranked as defensive standouts.

In the semi-finals, the Nationals got four goals from Todd Sweet and defeated the Phoenix Sharks, 10-0. Sweet also had an assist as Mayn scored twice in the game. Trent Brown, Brian Jacobson, Saul Flores and David Morris also lit up the scoreboard and Leaf had two assists, Brown and Flores, one each.

Steve Maciorski, Lemm and Lambert were the star defenders.

Ballistic opened with a shutout, 9-0, win over the Phoenix Firebirds and reached the round of four with a 3-1 triumph over Baldwin Park.

In the first tilt, Mike Lemm and Mike Merrill each scored twice while Leaf, Mayn, Morris, Hales and Sweet also tallied. Leaf had two assists in the initial contest while Mayn, Hales and Brown each had one.

The top defenders were Flores, LambePt, Greg Corbett, Richie Rollins and Molz.

Cowboys, Falcons clash

Foothill High begins a difficult quest for the East Bay Athletic League Soccer title this afternoon at 3 p.m. when they host second - place Livermore.

The Falcons, 8-2 in league play, are two points ahead of the Cowboys, who stand at 6-2-2. A win for the 'Pokes will pull them into a first place tie with three games remaining after today's contests.

Granada High's soccer squad hosts dangerous California High. The 2-8 Grizzlies are coming off a tight 2-1 loss to Foothill, while the Mats just squeaked by Monte Vista on a penalty kick.

Amador, tied with the Mats for third place with a 6-2-1 record, meet winless San Ramon in Danville today. The Dons showed steady improvement with a 3-2 win over Dublin, while the Wolves latest beating was an 8-1 shellacking by Livermore.

In the day's final contest, Monte Vista visits Dublin in a battle between two teams that are quite better than their records indicate. Dublin is 4-5 and the Mustangs are 3-7, including a win over Granada. The Gaels have defeated both Livermore and Amador.

Dons stay on top

That no-count loss by the San Francisco Dons really didn't seem to count, at least the voters in The Associated Press basketball poll.

Meanwhile, Michigan, still trying to regain first-place, edged up into second place Monday while Cincinnati nose - dived from that spot out of the Top Ten.

The first-place, third-place and fourth-place teams each lost a game last week — but each maintained its position.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college basketball poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points:

'Bubbles' Hawkins

Warrior castoff is healthy

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Happiness is a guard named Bubbles.

The New York Nets are happy to have him, and Bubbles is happy to be playing basketball again — and getting paid for it.

Robert "Bubbles" Hawkins spent last season as the last man on the Golden State bench, then was released earlier this year.

Free agency meant millions to baseball star Reggie Jackson. To Hawkins, it meant he was out of a job.

"I've always felt I could play in this league," said Hawkins. "I knew I could score. It was just a matter of getting a chance. I didn't get to play much with Golden State. And for a while this year, it looked like I might never get my chance.

"I hoped in the back of my mind that I would be playing again this year, but for a while I didn't know what was going to happen."

Then came December 16.

"That's a day I'll never forget," said Hawkins. "It's the day I would have gotten a raise from Golden State. As it turned out, it's the day I signed with the Nets."

Bubbles got his nickname from his older brother, Reggie, "except I don't know why he called me that — and neither does he."

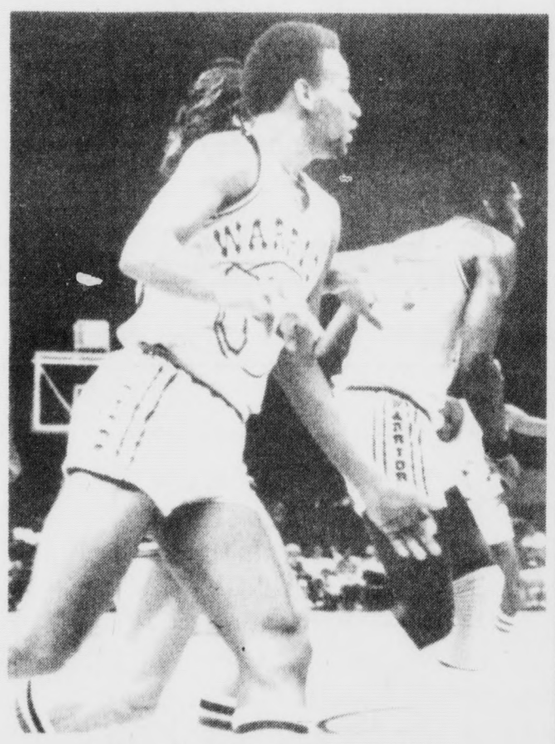
How did the Nets happen upon him?

"Six weeks ago, I wouldn't have known Bubbles Hawkins if he walked through the door. I didn't even know what he looked like," said Bill Melchionni, assistant to Nets President Roy Boe.

"We needed a guard and I started checking around. I was scouting a college game and bumped into Jeff Mullins, the ex-Warrior, and he told me Bubbles could play. Then I called Rick Barry, whom I knew pretty well, and he said the same thing.

"We went over the other names who were available and decided on Bubbles, based on those two opinions. I felt I knew them pretty well and could trust their judgment."

With starting guards Tiny Archibald and John Williamson both sidelined by injury, Hawkins got his chance to play with the Nets right away. And the speedy 6-4, 190-pounder from Illinois State has responded by scoring 14 points per game, even though he's averaged just 20 minutes of playing time.



With Cliff Ray in Warrior days

He figures to play more following his 24-point effort in Sunday's 95-86 victory over the Bulls which snapped the Nets' 13-game National Basketball Association losing streak.

"Someday he's going to score 40 points — he can really shoot," said Nets Coach Kevin Loughery. "But what has impressed me the past few games has been his defense. That was supposed to be his weakness, but he's shown me he's willing to work to improve it. We're going to put him up against the top guards and see what he can do."

Cleaver

was very down on third world people in power. Inside I was feeling more and more corrupt, doomed and deadend."

Cleaver started trying to make the connections necessary, through his old friends, some of whom had now risen to responsible positions, to return to the United States.

But it seemed those back home didn't want to help him and he became deeply depressed. One evening, sitting on his 12th floor balcony overlooking the mediterranean Cleaver described "something awesome about the sky. I was very down, very depressed. For the first time I thought about killing myself. Suicide. Would everything be over? I rejected it. The shadows on the moon rearranged themselves into a profile of myself, like one on the poster of the Black Panther Party."

He was frightened and shaking as the shadows again rearranged themselves into the images of his old heroes, Fidel Castro, Mao Tse Tung, and Karl Marx. Then unexpectedly, the image of Jesus Christ. "Jesus Christ was the last thing on my mind. I was crying like a baby, shaking like a leaf. I got down on my knees. Somewhere out of my memory came the Lord's Prayer and the 23rd. Psalm. I repeated them over and over. That night I slept the most peaceful sleep I've ever known in my life." It was the next morning that he saw clearly the "path of light leading through a prison cell," and decided to surrender.

He eventually contacted the right people, and was allowed to return to the U.S. and surrender. He is now out on bail, awaiting trial, and making a speaking tour of the U.S. His speech at Dublin High School will be aired on television Channel 7, Tuesday night by Harry Reasoner and Barbara Walters.

Finally, Vantage Longs.

The first long cigarette to bring good taste to low-tar smoking.

Like a lot of smokers you may like the idea of a longer cigarette. You may also want low tar.

But longer cigarettes usually have more tar. Well, Vantage just wouldn't go along with that.

So we worked. Until we could perfect a longer cigarette with the famous Vantage combination of full flavor and low tar. Not the lowest long cigarette you can find. But very possibly the lowest that you will enjoy.

New Vantage Longs. A blend of flavor-rich tobaccos with tar levels held down to the point where good taste still comes through.

That's the Vantage point. And that's the point of Vantage Longs. Never before has there been a long cigarette quite like it.

Try a pack today and see if you go along with us.
